100,000 Quit Land; Migration From Towns On

By BORIS SMOLAR
(Chief European Correspondent,
J. T. A.)

BUCHAREST—A survey of the effects of the Goga Government's threatened anti-Semitic measures revealed one of the greatest migratory movements in Rumanian history developing in the provinces of Bukowina, Bessarabia and Moldavia, territories annexed after the World War, which have large Jewish populations.

A wave of Jewish refugees from villages is flooding the larger towns in those provinces, where the peasants have literally accepted Premier Goga's declaration that the Jews will no longer be permitted to live on the land. Although no such law has yet been passed, the peasants in numerous districts have already agreed on division of Jewish-owned property and are only awaiting promulgation of the law to take possession. In the face of such an attitude, it has become impossible for Jews to remain in those districts.

Jewish leaders here estimate that at least 20,000 families, totalling 100,000 souls, which have lived on the land and in villages for generations, will soon become a burden upon the community and will require relief assistance. The number includes Jewish innkeepers whose licenses will soon be revoked under the projected law, forbidding Jews to sell liquor. (According to official estimates 11,700 of some 52,000 public houses are Jewish-owned.)

Soup Kitchens Set

Free soup kitchens are being established in several of the provincial towns to feed the refugees and temporary shelter is being provided by private homes and Jewish institutions. Since the majority of the refugees are trained agricultural workers, Jewish leaders hope that central organizations will be able to secure their transfer to countries where skilled workers are admitted.

According to an estimate by leaders here, if no other measures are adopted but removal of Jews from the land, cancellation of liquor licenses and revocation of labor permits of those whose citizenship is annulled, a minimum of 200,000 Jews will be pauperized and made dependent on the community for elementary needs. The leaders see no solution but to appeal to Jewish-relief organizations abroad.

Reports from Bessarabia and Bukovina told of growing dissatisfaction with the Government

U.S. Rumanians Protest New Government

Special

CLEVELAND, O.—The largest and most influential group of Rumanians in the United States, the Carpatina Society of this city, unequivocally condemned the new Rumanian anti-Semitic government, and in a pointed resolution asked King Carol to "put aside" the present administration.

At the same time, "America" the official organ of the national Union of Rumanian Societies of America, the authoritative voice of Rumanians living in America, is carrying on an editorial campaign against the present government.

The resolution denouncing the tyrannical ring that Carol has permitted to seize the government was adopted at a meeting of the organization Sunday at its offices, 1303 W. 58 St. It is headed, "Resolution of protest against your majesty's new government, whose acts of terrorization effected against the democratic elements and against the minorities living within the borders of greater Rumania, puts Rumania, our land of birth, in an unfavorable light in the eyes of all peoples of this democratic republic."

At another point the resolution declares: "And we respectfully request that the present government should be put aside and that through free election there should be given to the Roumanian country a government of the people, with respect to the treaties and promises made to this country of ours and to other great democracies; by all of the post war governments until this present government and regime were brought into power to govern through terrorization placing in peril not only the future of Roumania but of the whole civilization now threatened by the Fascist Hitlerite forces."

Awarded Trip

Mrs. Cohen Wins Palestine Trip

Special

NEW YORK—Mrs. Philip Cohen of 160 Upton Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island, a member of Hadasah and one of the 40,000 American holders of Blue-White boxes of the Jewish National Fund, whose names have been entered in the National Box Register, has the opportunity of visiting Palestine under the auspices of the Jewish National Fund as a result of an award made by a committee comprising representatives of all the Zionist parties and groups which constitute the administration of Jewish National Fund work in the United States.

The award was made last week under the National Box Register plan, recently installed by the J. N. F. Administration with a view to systematizing the installation and clearance of Blue-White boxes and increasing the American yield from this traditional J. N. F. instrumentality for Geulah Ha'aretz purposes. One of the features of the National Box Register plan provides for awarding a free Palestine round trip, tourist class, to one of each 1,000 box holders whose boxes yield $5.00 or more in any given clearance.

Box holders from 33 States in the Union were included in the list which served as the basis for the award made by a Committee on Award comprising representatives of the Zionist groups and parties.

Rector Tells Ghetto Bench Resignation

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

LWOW, Poland—Prof. Kulczyński, who resigned as rector of Lwow University when "ghetto benches" for Jewish students were introduced over his objections, explained in an open letter that he had refused to be terrorized by a "certain political party."

Declaring that university rectors were helpless against the terroristic methods employed by the party (the National Democratic Party) Prof. Kulczyński wrote: "Utilization of universities for party purposes and blackmail is destroying the autonomy of universities and is undermining the freedom of science without which science cannot exist."

Two Lwow University deans, Prof. Ostrowski of the medical faculty and Prof. Jan. Samsonowicz of the mathematics department, resigned in sympathy with Kulczyński.

Dodd Says Yugoslavia, Austria To Join Nazis

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

NEW YORK—William E. Dodd, who has had the opportunity for four and half years to study the workings of official anti-Semitism while Ambassador to Germany, predicted last week that Austria and Yugoslavia would in a short time follow Rumania's political path.

Dr. Dodd told about 3,000 persons at an anti-Hitler mass meeting, after referring to Rumania, "I look for the same situation to come in two other states in a short time." Questioned after his address by the Jewish Telegraphic Agency, he unhesitatingly asserted that the reference was to Austria and Yugoslavia.

The Editor's Chair:

One of the first tasks assigned to a "cub" reporter is the obituaries. That is, covering the deaths. The undertakers must be called at regular intervals, survivors must be recorded, and funeral arrangements secured. The job is definitely routine, and offers very little opportunity for news-writing, adventure or initiative.

So I was a reporter. And on two occasions I had the "obits" as my assignment. The first because I was a cub, and the second because I had written a story about two men, one of whom was convicted and one of whom was freed of charges of graft. I had everything right except the guilty man innocent and the dismissed man convicted. Naturally the paper was considerably put out in more ways than one when the man who had been declared by the court innocent sued for $75,000.

But what I started to tell about was the coverage of death. The managing editor of the paper called me into his office when I had just started. He impressed upon me, and the impression still persists, how important the "obits" can be. "Most people," he said, "get their name in the paper on two occasions. When they get married and when they die. So when their name does appear, it is quite important to them and their friends. That's why, I want you to place special effort on your 'obits'. Find out interesting facts about the person's life. What did he do. What organizations did he belong to. How long did he live here?"

Now that I am an editor (ahem), I have tried to impress upon my reporters how important deaths can be. The more so, I often explain, because our paper is a weekly publication, and because the Jewish community is so closely knit together.

Now there is a Jewish publication which follows out my idea of good coverage of deaths. That paper is The Seattle Jewish Transcript in my estimation, the finest published in the United States, although this honor is considerably detracted from by the fact that the editor, Herman A. Horowitz, does not write his own editorials, but prefers to reprint those written by the syndicate man in New York for about twenty or thirty of the weaker Jewish weeklies, from Indianapolis to Seattle.

Higuchi, Ludendorf, Hitler, Hell

THE best thing that can be said for the Jewish community of Japan, North China and Manchukuo is that it is small.

If there were tens of thousands, or hundreds of thousands of Jews living under Japan's dominion then their plight would deserve the same attention and sympathy as that of Jews living in Italy.

Today General Higuchi says Manchukuo "will in the future gladly support loyal Jewish people, enabling Jews to live in peace and to establish peaceful homes here". Tomorrow Higuchi's government imports Nazi rabble-rousers to stir up hatred against the Jews.

A government of repression chokes the Jew to the point where he cries out for intellectual freedom, stirs himself to eliminate injustice, and abolish war. Fascist war lords resent this presumption, and as the sage says, then the trouble begins. Fascism and Judaism get along like fire and gasoline. The time when Jews of Japan will be recalling Higuchi's pledge in an effort to stem measures against them, will come to pass, as assuredly as the selfsame pledge of General Ludendorf was hailed out in an effort to ameliorate the persecution of Jews of Germany.

Could The Fair Exclude The Nazi Exhibit?

IF we agree that the United States could not, under the present world situation, officially protest to Germany against the treatment of its Jewish population, then we must accede to the decision of the world's fair committee in refusing the application for the building of a "chamber of horrors".

Denying the application of the Joint Boycott Council for the "chamber of horrors", Grover Whalen, president of the fair corporation, declared that none of the nations at the fair will have exhibits serving the purposes of political propaganda. Mr. Whalen is not so naive as to not know that there is only one political party in Germany. Nor can he have forgotten the dexterous manner in which the Nazis transformed the Olympics into a display of alleged German progress.

It must be accepted that the German exhibition will be direct, effective and deliberate Nazi propaganda. Yet it would have been difficult to have excluded Germany from the fair.

The U. S. Government has not made representation to Germany against Jewish persecution, yet President Roosevelt has lambasted, slapped and denounced Nazi tactics at every opportunity, LaGuardia has given the Hitlerites a thorough raking and many Congressman have riddled the Third Reich.

There must be ways of offsetting the obvious Nazi advantage. A Palestinian exhibit, a showing of Jewish contributions to life in America, and a seizure of other opportunities as they arise, in the manner of President Roosevelt's chastisement of Hitler, will have its effect. Then too, it must not be forgotten, that if ever a government had achieved sublime disrepute in America, it is the Nazi regime. Americans viewing the German exhibition will be looking at it critical in their disbelief and unimpressed in their background of previous knowledge of the true significance of Nazidom.

The Nazis Have Given An Example

IT IS doubtful whether before 1933 Prof. Kulczynski, rector of Lwow University, would have resigned in protest against the compulsory institution of "ghetto benches" in the institution.

This is meant as no reflection upon the integrity, the courage and the glorious sacrifice of the Polish scholar. In resigning from one of the highest positions in the scholastic world of Poland, Prof. Kulczynski cleanly stated the situation. "Utilization of universities," he said, "for party purposes and blackmail is destroying the autonomy of universities and is undermining the freedom of science without which science cannot exist".

The point is would the rector have had such a decisive picture of the situation had it not been for the notorious example of the Nazi throttling of its universities and intellectual freedom.

Comments On Current Topics

An Anti-Semitic Letter Distributed On Staten Island Recently.

Dear Fellow Christian:

Wagner College has joined forces with the Jewish Community Center of Staten Island, in other words, Wagner College with its long standing Christian tradition has joined forces with the Crucifiers of Jesus Christ, the founder of the Christian religion.

These two institutions are sponsoring a community forum at the Jewish Community Center; Subject: "Is America Changing", among the speakers, Rabbi Wise, Ludwig Lewishon, James A. Macdonald.

Jesus Christ, if He could be apprised of the fact that a joint forum is to be held, would turn in His grave or descend from the eternal clouds to drive away His tormentors and Crucifiers, scheduled to assemble at Victory Boulevard, Staten Island.

Rabbi Wise, the contemptuous agitator and inciter of class hatred is announced as lecturer on "America in a changing world". The Rabbi does not seem to be qualified to lecture on that subject; he is interested only in the welfare of his own selfish clique and is not a "distinguished leader of American life and thought" as is obsequiously stated in the pamphlet forwarded to credulous Staten Islanders.

Several years ago, Rabbi Wise's daughter under an assumed name smuggled herself into textile mills of Passaic, where she organized communistic labor movements, which resulted in strikes and violence.

We are furthermore supposed to hear James A. Macdonald, this notorious professional agitator, henchman of the Rabbi Wise-Untermeyer-Dickstein triumvirate and dispenser of biased and wanton inexactitudes.

What a pity that the joint forces neglected to announce also the "Honorable" Samuel Dickstein and His Majesty and supreme war-lord

Samuel Untermeyer as lecturers. Are we Staten Islanders in such desperate need of pious lessons on American cultural ideals from these potentates of the "Invisible Government". Are we?

Staten Islanders awake! Let us recognize the fact that the Christian Wagner College is due to be dominated by anti-Christians and the forces of deceit and destruction. Remember the exodus from Egypt 4000 years ago—historically the result of the same domination which to-day threatens our community.

Many perplexed Staten Islanders.

The Critic For The "Palestine Review" On The Matate Theatre.—There was not a seat to be had in the Zion Hall when the Matate gave the first performance in Jerusalem of its latest programme, "We Were Like Dreamers." Nor did the huge audience go away disappointed. Both those in favour and those against Partition found much to make them laugh, and the uproarious cheering that greeted some of the scenes was well deserved. The play showed the Jewish State in being and some of the perplexities that followed upon its creation. The soldiers carry two lots of food utensils, one for meat and one for milk. The Jewish Ambassador to the Court of the King of Britannia cannot refuse a visa to Palestine, even though the country is full to overflowing. The Mizrahi have the Sabbath Portfolio in the Jewish Cabinet and appoint an Aryan German (a sort of Jew of the German Persuasion) to hold this important cabinet post from Friday evening till Saturday night. A wonderful scene shows a handful of Jews in the train travelling from south to north. Here they are compelled to alight to pass through the Arab Customs, there to pass through the English Customs, and when they are forced to pass through the Jewish Customs they have nothing left. A tragi-comedy worthy of the first-rate theatre the Matate has become.

Freedom Of The Press

New Jewish Youth Publication States Platform

To The Editor:

With the appearance of its second issue, with greetings from numerous leaders in American Jewry, the Jewish Youth Journal, "dedicated to American Jewish Youth", announces officially the aims it will pursue. In a feature editorial, entitled "Positive Policy", the Journal states: "Jewish life in America today can be characterized by one word—negative. The average Jew's reading diet consists solely of latest developments along the anti-Semitic front. Jewish organizations, by and large, are engaged in combating something or other. As a consequence, the attitude fostered is an unhealthy and abnormal one..... We, of the Jewish Youth Journal, are convinced of the many positive phases in Jewish life, for which to live—creatively and happily. Though we shall never lose sight of Jewish suffering and tragedy, nor spare any pains in their alleviation, our emphasis will primarily be 'positive' in content.

"Also, we of the Jewish Youth Journal have no particular product to sell. Every phase of worthy Jewish self-expression will find our devotion. We are interested in but one thing—a wholesome, positive creative Jewish life."

Though sponsored by the Young People's League of the United Synagogue of America, the Journal in its scope embraces all national youth organizations. Its aim is to inject a spirit of cooperation among all American Jewish Youth—not in any particularized field of endeavor but in the totality of Jewish life. The Jewish Youth Journal is sincerely "dedicated to the ideals and interests of American Jewish Youth, to the advancement of a more creative Jewish life, and to the furtherance of universal freedom, justice, and peace".

Review Of The Week

By MINTON BROWN

RUMANIA: Devil and Deep

Premier Goga stood last week between the devil and the deep blue sea.

The devil—how apt the metaphor—was Minister Without Portfolio Alexander Cuza, father of Rumanian anti-Semitism, heading the extremist wing of his cabinet, urging him to quit the League of Nations, defy minority guarantees and go all the way with the anti-Semitic program.

Across the deep blue sea was the United States, where public opinion was joining that of other countries in warning Goga against anti-Jewish and anti-minority edicts. There were teeth in the warning; some groups were already talking boycott.

The indecision within the cabinet explained how Minister of Public Works George Cuza (Alexander's son) could prohibit Jews from engaging Christian maids under 40 years of age while Goga at first knew nothing of the order, then revoked it.

Voices from abroad were making themselves heard in Bucharest. The new United States Minister to Rumania, seizing the opportunity offered by the routine call made by new envoys, called on Premier Goga and told him of the anxiety in America with regard to the position of the Rumanian Jews. The anxiety was reflecting in resolutions introduced in the House and Senate asking President Roosevelt's intercession in behalf of the Jews and other minorities.

And the Rumanian question was in the mind of the League Council when it opened its session this week. The World Jewish Congress (Continued on Last Page)

What Ho!!

Here's what I heard from the mob..... Jean Goldsmith gave one of the most splendorous parties of the year at the Broadmoor Country Club last week in honor of Mrs. (soon will be) Sam Nathan, in other words her cousin, Dot Goldsmith. Among the young matrons and debs were Pat Bamberger, Katy Frank, Eleanor Kahn, Hett Nathan, Horthy Wolf, Lois Letzter, and many many more..... Parties seem to be the theme of the week for on Friday I noticed Adeline Rice, Carolyn Pinkus, Dot Rauh, and later Ros Solomon and Florence Goldberg going into the Columbia Club to attend a luncheon and bingo party given by Eleanor Sussman in honor of Harriet Nathan..... Also observed Jack Kahn going into the club and wonder if he was going to the same party..... Then on Saturday nite the surprise birthday party given for Sonny Hammerman..... the surprise being Sonny knew about it... for a bride Verna Mae did herself proud.... must have been making hor d' Oevres for the last six months..... Helen Davis looking divinely willowy, Dot Krish, Hirschell "Adonis" Cohen of Cincy, Irma Valinetz, Joe Glass, Mary and (bartender) Lou Fink, Betty Sachs, Mike (philosopher) Efrogmson were among the celebrators..... After tearing the apartment of Sonny's to pieces they all journeyed down to the Atrium room..... Since Friday night belongs to the Temple I held myself there..... Among those enjoying the services were Augusta Selig, Ruby Keiffer, the Coolers, Carolyn Jaeger (looking very snappy these days..... we hear she's typed now, since going to business college) Mr. and Mrs. Serinsky and Mrs. Sally Joseph.....

About Town

At the Sunday "pop" concert I saw the "arty" crowd..... The younger generation has certainly gone thataway since young blood was infused in the orchestra..... Betty Berry, Alice Elkin and Anne Shapero looked plenty ritzy in their box..... also observed Goldie Dichner, Marilyn Lurie, Ann Arshopsy and guest Pearl Cohen of Bedford..... Hannah Lea Miller and Bess Goldstein were escorted by Harold Schwartz and Charles Sachs..... saw M. Epstein literally surrounded by seven girls..... sort of the reverse of Snow White and the seven dwarfs.... one was even carrying his violin.... what is this thing called 'art'..... Later the Siegel twins, Marg Davis and Edgar Klain, who were to meet the rest of the gang at Mrs. Carl Barry's home, found that they were practically alone..... no one else showed up..... Fine monkey business.... Key Hole Katy needs an explanation of this so come clean..... You can't keep a good horse down and were we glad to report that Leo Netzorg is up and at 'em once more..... we missed his smile..... Elliot Hirsh, Florence Goldberg, Bernie Hyman and Ben Domont journeyed to Louisville where the two latter attached two beautiful damsels to the party (making three in all cause I'll still root for Indianapolis gals)..... heap big time was had by all..... This week was one meeting after another but I managed to cover the territory right well..... The B'nai B'rith meeting had a grand crowd and Pres. Cohen conducted the meeting to the manner born..... Jack Kammins, Sam Mantel and all the hot shots were there..... a great meeting.....

Here, There And Everywhere

Ed Cohn and Doug Brown seen kibitzing in front of the Washington Hotel..... Nort Fishbein and satchel strutting up Illinois Street..... Sam Wolf, the Pontiac man, eating in Shapiro's..... Burt Cohen inspecting the cabinet work he installed in Ayres' basement.... Sylvia Eckman arguing with Josh Fineberg in front of Martha Washington after the sesquicentennial meeting the other night.....

Congratulations

Love has bloomed for Mr. and Mrs. Max Farb (Harriet Gross), and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Miller (Molly Davis), of Chicago..... the Farb wedding took the town by surprise..... they were married in Crown Point Saturday and then the following day by the rabbi in Gary..... they are leaving Saturday for New York where Max will be introduced to the folks.....

Well friends until Frankie Greenwald bowls 300 at the Parkway Alleys, I'll be looking for you and I do, ah dew and I due mean adieu.

BOYCOTT: The latest victim of a boycott is genial Benny Goodman, swingstrichian who has been labelled one of the "pleasantest screwballs in America."..... The boycotters are Catholic school-children..... Who picket Big Benny because he is suspected of Red leanings, the color of his politics evidently having revealed itself through his playing for a C. I. O. union affair and contributing to the Spanish Loyalist cause..... But the boycott didn't keep Carnegie Hall from being jammed to the rafters the other night when the Goodman swingsters swung it for the upper crust.....

SUCCESS: Our prediction on the future in store for Helen Beverly, captivating young thing who plays featured roles in "The Brothers Ashkenazi" and the movie "Green Fields," has been fulfilled..... Helen has been signed to a juicy contract by 20th Century-Fox..... So here goes another prediction: Helen will be playing lead roles in Hollywood within two years.....

VISITOR: A prominent member of a famous Jewish family, Sir Philip Sassoon, former British Undersecretary for Air, slipped into New York quietly the other night on the S. S. Washington..... His name wasn't on the passenger list, and officials on the boat had instructions not to give out his cabin number..... His presence was accidentally divulged by a page boy who was overheard lustily but unsuccessfully paging him.....

DYBBUK: Chassidim will be dancing across a New York screen next week when the Continental Theatre (once Minsky's Oriental) puts on the Warsaw production of "The Dybbuk."..... Ludwig Prywes, Warsaw producer, says it will be a sensation..... Irving Geist, N. Y. campaign chairman of the drive for Polish Jews, is sponsoring the New York showing of the film and says every cent realized will be used for the campaign.

LIT'RY NOTES: John (Inside Europe) Gunther, who's sniffing around Palestine, is writing a book he'll call "Outside Asia," our Roman Slobodin tells us..... Gunther, Roman confides, says no Westerner can really get inside it..... Also among the big names hiding out in the Holy Land recently were Charlie (Act of God) MacArthur, who traveled incognito, and Robert Neville of Time Magazine..... And now the Chicago Daily News has sent Johnnie Whittaker to give the Arabs and Zionists the o.o..... And Leon Dennen, having just completed his first novel (locale, Poland and America), is toying with the idea of setting sail for the Near East.

MISH-MASH: A radio announcer got himself into lots of dutch last week..... Because on the "Interesting Neighbor's" program, he asked one of the interviewees if he were Jewish, and when answered in the negative explained, "I thought you might be from the way you were using your hands to assist the conversation."..... The dutch came when exactly 64 angry phone calls were received by NBC before the echo of the crack had died down..... Back in 1902, when Rumania was getting tough with Jews, Sir Marcus Samuel (afterwards the first Lord Bearsted) was named Lord Mayor and created a sensation by refusing to invite the Rumanian Minister to the Lord Mayor's banquet..... A decision to which he stuck despite all sorts of pressure brought against him..... You can buy Chesterfield cigarettes for 18 cents a pack (by the carton) in Jerusalem, but you've got to pay 35 cents or more for them in London or on the Continent.... A Polish Jew arrested in Warsaw is said to have eight "wives" and forty fiancées in Poland and Rumania..... It has been officially decreed in the Reich that an unmarried German woman who adopts a child may call herself "Frau"..... Unmarried mothers have the same privilege..... Anti-Semites are handing out stickers at entrances to New York subways, bearing the profile of a Streicher Jew, with the legend, "Break His Stranglehold—Buy Gentile."..... Franz Werfel recites his poetry to Austrian Chancellor Schuschnigg, who counts the Jewish novelist and dramatist among his closest friends.....

EDITOR'S CHAIR

of 84-year-old Mrs. Rose Rickles, The Transcript wrote the following. See if you don't agree with me. I am only reprinting a small part of The Transcript's story, because of lack of space.

"Tired eyes that had looked upon a cruel, shock-dealing world with understanding and kindness, mistimed with the veil of death Monday as 84-year-old Mrs. Rose Rickles, matriarch of a family that numbered nine children, 33 grandchildren, and 12 great grandchildren gazed lovingly for the last time upon her family.

"Then the great heart of 'Ma' Rickles stopped beating, as her sons and daughters, and her grandsons and her great-grandsons looked on, tearfully.

"So ended the life of one of Seattle's pioneer Jewish women, who knew no race or creed no station in life when there was suffering, hunger or pain to alleviate.

Her funeral was as simple and humble as her life.

"Rabbi Solomon P. Wohlgelemer, to whom she had spoken of death two weeks ago without fear, but rather with the firm faith that she was about to meet her Creator, intoned the age-old ritual at Chesod Shel Emes chapel, Monday afternoon.

"He eulogized the pious, charitable 'mother in Israel' who came to Seattle 47 years ago—two years after the great Seattle fire—and who helped establish the Bikur Cholim Synagogue, which her youngest son, P. Allen Rickles, was later to serve as president for three successive years.

"He told how Mrs. Rickles devoted her lifetime to charity; how her humble home was always 'open house' to the stranger and wayfarer, no matter how ragged and dirty; how she often was called in the middle of the night to the bedside of some sick woman, Jewish or non-Jewish made no difference; how she took in hundreds upon hundreds of strangers, friendless

Book Shows 1 Of 3 Is Foreign Born

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

NEW YORK—Nearly one-third of our population—38,000,000 people—are of foreign birth or first generation Americans, it is pointed out in "Making Americans," a new manual on naturalization and citizenship published by the National Council of Jewish Women.

Miss Cecilia Razovsky, associate director of the Council and executive director of the National Coordinate Committee for Aid to Refugees and Emigrants Coming from Germany, is the author of the sixty-four page booklet, which is designed for the use of volunteers assisting in naturalization aid.

James L. Houghteling, Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization Service, has contributed an opening statement to the booklet, which will be distributed in the 200 communities, where the Council is carrying on a nationwide program in this field.

Grover Whalen Refuses "Chamber Of Horrors"

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

NEW YORK—An application for a World's Fair "chamber of horrors" in competition with the German Government's exhibition was refused by Grover Whalen, president of the fair corporation, last week in a letter to the Joint Boycott Council.

City Councilman B. Charney Vladeck and Dr. Joseph Tenenbaum, co-chairmen of the Council, contended that since Germany will exhibit at the fair there should be an opportunity of "counteracting the virus of Nazi propaganda which has begun to poison our institutions."

Disagreeing, Mr. Whalen said that there has been no indication that any of the nations at the fair will have exhibits serving the purposes of political propaganda.

"The rules of the Fair, in fact, would permit nothing of the sort," he wrote.

"Quite naturally, the nations that have accepted the President's cordial invitation will be treated by the Fair Corporation without distinction or preference and with equal courtesy," his letter continued.

"In the same spirit, I must add that it would be altogether unbecoming to our role to permit another exhibitor to erect as you suggest, a building different in character and use from any that our rules permit, and for that reason we should not be able to entertain an application for space for such a purpose."

and penniless from the Old Country, and gave them their first meal, got clothes for them and hurried among the handful of families in the tiny Jewish community collecting enough money to buy a horse and wagon, or a peddler's supply for the newcomers.

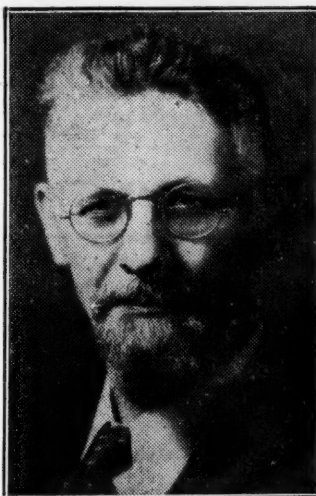

"Rabbi Philip A. Langh of Herzl Synagogue, where 'Ma' Rickles' son is serving his sixth term as president, also eulogized the humble, toil-worn matriarch.

"In the chapel, men who had been given their first meals by Old Lady Rickles choked back tears as they looked upon the simple coffin of the saintly woman.

"Moved by the rites, Isaac Colsky, now a well-to-do merchant, came from the mourners to tell how 'Ma' Rickles fed him and gave him his start in the Seattle community.

"I want to give $250 in her name to the Seattle Talmud Torah," he said. 'I want a plaque to stand in her honor in the school where our Jews of tomorrow are being educated, so that this noble soul may be remembered by generations of our children.'"

Birthday Thursday

DR. MARX

NEW YORK—Considered the scholar who had done more to gather and preserve the printed and manuscript treasures of the Jewish past than any other person of this generation, Dr. Alexander Marx, librarian of the Jewish Theological Seminary of this city, will celebrate his sixtieth birthday, Thursday, Jan. 27. Dr. Marx is one of the fifty Fellows of the Medieval Academy of America, and has been a member of the faculty of the Seminary since 1903.

Wealthy Jews Selling Out

Shutting down of many Jewish businesses, the result of liquidation of their enterprises by wealthier Jews who are preparing to leave the country, is increasing unemployment and creating dissatisfaction among non-Jewish employees. In many towns, the Jews are being invited by the political police to keep their establishments going, but this has failed to check the liquidation of Jewish property. Jewish merchants and industrialists are convinced that the Government will keep its promise to put Government commissars in charge of their properties.

Liquidation of realty is proceeding on a large scale since non-Jewish tenants are refusing to pay rents to Jewish landlords. Prices

Rabbis Against Indecent Reading

Religious News Service

FORT WAYNE, Ind.—Support of the two Jewish congregations of this city to a city-wide campaign against indecent literature, the campaign having been instigated by the Catholics, was pledged in letters from Rabbi S. H. Markowitz, of the Achduth Vesholom Temple, and Rabbi Irving A. Weingart, of the B'nai B'rith Jacob Temple.

In a letter to the bishop of the Fort Wayne Catholic Diocese, Rabbi Weingart, of the Orthodox Jewish Synagogue, declared:

"Perhaps if it were possible to educate the masses to intelligent reading and clear thinking, to abstain from and abhor the vulgar and obscene in writing, and focus their eyes and attention upon the pure and noble in life, then perhaps the lofty concepts of faith and religion could be instilled in man. Then and only then could the Kingdom of God and Brotherhood of Man be restored, and this turbulent world of ours would become once again a place where the spirit of God would reign and where man would find peace and contentment.

"I and my congregation therefore pledge our efforts to the furthering of your campaign and express our sincere wishes for success."

of property are dropping from thirty to forty per cent.

Meanwhile, district commissioners are taking advantage of the situation by introducing local anti-Jewish measures without awaiting orders from Bucharest. The authorities at Jassy have prohibited Jewish butchers from selling non-kosher meat. Shechita, ritual slaughter of animals, has been entirely proscribed at Bihisu, Moldavia.

The Supreme Council of the Rumanian Bar Association has decided to postpone elimination of 1,540 Bucharest Jewish lawyers, pending examination of their naturalization papers.

The Minister of Justice appointed a special commission, composed of magistrates, to examine Jews' naturalization papers with the purpose of denaturalizing hundreds of thousands who allegedly obtained citizenship by fraud.

1,000 JEWS SAVED FROM DEPORTATION BY NEW RULING OF BRAZIL GOVERNMENT

Move Made To Show Regime Is Not Fascistic

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
NEW YORK—The Vargas Government has suspended deportation orders against 800 to 1,000 Jews, mostly from Germany, illegally resident in Brazil, the New York Times reported from Rio de Janeiro, in a move aimed at stripping the "unitarian" government of any possible appearance of Nazism or Fascism.

The police are failing to follow up the deportation notices, said Turner Catledge, the Times correspondent, and deportations will be suspended for sixty days while Minister of Justice Francisco Campos drafts a new immigration law giving special status to immigrants of good repute, although probably not encouraging further resettlement of political refugees in Brazil.

The Jews, most of whom had overstayed ninety-day tourist visas, were concededly in the country illegally, the dispatch declared, but the expulsions were called off when the situation of Jews who would be returned to Germany and other hostile countries was described to the authorities, together with possible repercussions abroad, especially in the United States.

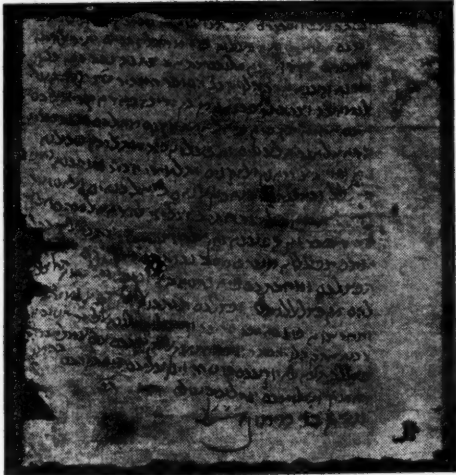

In making the Government's attitude known, Mr. Campos, described as President Vargas' "one-main brain trust," stressed that the purpose of the Vargas regime was to do everything possible to prove to the world, and the United States particularly, that the corporation state established in Brazil was motivated by no Fascist or Nazi spirit and would countenance no such ideologies as are expressed in racial and religious oppressions.

Davis Introduces Bill Hitting Rumanian Acts

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
WASHINGTON—A resolution requesting President Roosevelt to intercede in behalf of the Jews and other minorities threatened by Rumanian edicts has been introduced in the Senate by James J. Davis, Republican, of Pennsylvania.

Senator Davis announced that he was hopeful of obtaining hearings on the resolution before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The resolution follows: "Resolved, that the President of the United States be requested to communicate to the Senate, if not incompatible with public interest, any information in his possession concerning prospective edicts against Jews and other minorities in Rumania recently reported to have become the announced program of the Rumanian Government and to use his good offices to obtain a peaceful settlement of proposed threats to the well-being of these minorities."

Revision of citizenship, which will have the effect of de-nationalizing thousands of Jews, is being carried out. It is supposed to be aimed at post-war refugees, but from the exaggerated estimate of the number of refugees given by

Toscanini Leaves Next Month For Palestine

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
NEW YORK—Arturo Toscanini will revisit Palestine in March to conduct for a second series the Palestine Symphony Orchestra, his reputation enhanced in the Holy Land—if it were possible to add to his stature in the eyes of Palestinians—by the triumphal concerts of the NBC Symphony Orchestra under his baton.

Toscanini, who was originally scheduled to visit Palestine last fall, changed his plans, and will leave for the Holy Land after the final New York concert Feb. 26.

the Government, it appears thousands of others will be caught in the net.

King Carol, giving a new paraphrase of "I am the State," gave his blessing to the de-nationalization of wartime and post-war refugees, but he promised, in an interview with the London Daily Herald, that there would be no expulsions. He said the government's measures were not aimed at Rumanian-born Jews, and in London a Jewish leader recalled that Hitler had said in 1933 his measures were not aimed at German-born Jews.

PALESTINE: Murder

James Leslie Starkey did not bother much about this century. Boring into the relic-laden earth of Palestine, he lived in Biblical times. But last week the noted British archaeologist went down into the earth never to return; he had been shot by Arab terrorists.

Starkey, the head of the Wellcome-Marston Archaeological Expedition, had made significant discoveries in Palestine, and hoped to make more. He was motoring from his camp at Tel-el-Duweir, site of Biblical Lachish, to Jerusalem for the opening of the Palestine Archaeological Museum, for one of whose buildings John D. Rockefeller donated $2,000,000. His car was halted, he was ordered to alight, and then he was shot in the back.

From the Arabs' point of view, the murder of Starkey was even more inept than that of District Commissioner Andrews last September, for Starkey was entirely removed from the political struggle. His murder—at a time when Britain is hesitating on its Palestine policy—made a deep impression in England that must have been reflected in official circles.

Meanwhile, Britain prepares to appoint next month the "technical commission" which will explore partition possibilities in Palestine.

Congress Asks Action

GENEVA—A world Jewish Congress petition asking the League Council to apply urgent procedure (which means immediate action) to re-establish the Rumanian Jews in their rights was submitted to Secretary-General Joseph Avenol. The petition consists of eight pages and is accompanied by appendices of more than 100 pages which describe the position of Rumania's Jews and enumerate Premier Octavian Goga's latest anti-Jewish measures. The document cites statistics prepared by the League and Rumania.

The Government is seeking to select non-political experts as members. Members of the previous Royal Commission are understood to be barred because they are committed to partition.

OTHER COUNTRIES:

Poland: Twelve Jews were injured by a mob of 100 in the town of Rawa-Mazowiec, while Lwow University officially introduced "ghetto benches" and its rector resigned in protest.

Manchukuo: The Japanese have no feelings of race hatred, are the friends of the Jewish people and wish to cooperate with them socially and commercially, declared General Higuchi, commander-in-chief of Japanese-Manchukuoan forces, addressing the first conference of Jewish communities of Japan, North China and Manchukuo, held in Harbin.

Brazil: The Vargas "unitarian" government, seeking to show it had nothing in common with Nazism or its race intolerances, suspended deportation of 800 to 1,000 Jews, most of them from Germany, who were living illegally in Brazil. A bill is being drafted to legalize their status.

Communities Hear General Give Pledge

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
HARBIN, Manchukuo—Assurances of Japanese friendship for the Jews were voiced by General Higuchi, commander-in-chief of the Japanese Manchukuo forces, before the first conference of the Jewish communities of Japan, North China and Manchukuo.

General Higuchi said the Japanese had no feeling of race hatred, were the friends of the Jewish people and were ready to cooperate with Jews socially and commercially. He expressed satisfaction at the conference's resolution of loyalty to Japan, declaring:

"While Manchukuo is basically founded on the cooperation of five peoples—Japanese, Chinese, Mongols, Koreans and Russians—it will in the future gladly support loyal Jewish people enabling Jews to live in peace and to establish peaceful homes here."

The conference was attended by delegates from Tientsin, Kobe, Dairen, Osaka, Mukden and other cities. It was presided over by Dr. A. Kaufman, president of the Harbin Jewish Community. A council was elected to represent the communities in Japan, Manchukuo and North China.
